

Cetacean Connections: Summary

Day 3

Looking at your ethogram, present the most common behavior you recorded during your data collection using a drawing and description. Next, describe what you learned about your animal from observing and recording its behavior. Finally, what new question do you have about this animal now that you've studied it?

MY SPECIES IS: _____

What was the most common behavior you observed?

What else did you learn about your species from the ethogram?

What are new questions you have about your species?
